

Chief Information Officer (CIO) (m/w/d)

The Chief Information Officer (CIO) takes over the management of Information Technology and is responsible for the strategic and operational management of IT. The CIO is responsible for the management, implementation and security of the company's IT systems and reports directly to the management. To this end, he steers, promotes, motivates and accompanies his own team of employees. He decides how to set up the functional and organisational requirements of IT systems and how to shape change management when introducing new IT tools or new digital business processes and business opportunities.

Tasks:

- Responsibility for management, implementation and safeguarding of the entire IT environment in the company
- Independent control, development, motivation and promotion of the entire IT area
- Responsibility for building IT capacities, ensuring the highest quality and reliability of IT services
- Development and implementation of agile IT strategies of the company
- Holistic strategic integration of new IT tools, digitization and optimization of business processes

Qualifications:

- Successfully completed studies in informatics or a comparable course of studies
- More than 5 years of experience in a comparable IT management position, preferably in the integrated digitization of companies
- Confident appearance, analytical thinking and understanding of complex interrelationships
- High contact and communication skills, positive charisma
- Negotiation and presentation skills
- Ability to work in a team and self-reliant, independent and structured way of working
- Fluent in German and English

Salary recommendation: € 80.000 – 120.000 p.a. (depending on location and experience)

Status May 2019

Would you like to know more? This is a sample job advertisement. We are happy to help you with your individual offer. Please send us an e-mail to info@digilents.com

Digilents is the personnel consultancy for e-commerce and digitisation. Here at Digilents we combine personnel consulting and recruiting of specialists and executives in e-commerce and digitisation environments for multinational corporations, medium-sized companies and family businesses. We cover the exponentially increased demand for e-commerce professionals - Chief Digital Officer, SEO and SEA experts, shop managers, e-commerce executives or experienced e-commerce employees and innovative online professionals. For companies, we are the first point of contact for open positions - even before classic headhunters or job portals. We have a great network and sound knowledge of change management and transformational leadership. Close cooperation with our partners and candidates makes us successful. We can quickly, efficiently and precisely network the right people and take individual care of the professional and cultural fit.

Digilents GmbH
Marienstr. 17
D-70178 Stuttgart

Telephone: +49 \(0\) 711 9958576-07119958576-0)
Telefax: +49 \(0\) 711 9958576-97119958576-9)
E-Mail: info@digilents.com

www.digilents.com